RENOWNED LOCAL LANDSCAPE ARTIST CREATES SUNRIVER MUSIC FESTIVAL'S 2020 POSTER

SUNRIVER, ORE – “Sunriver Wake” a stunning landscape by Central Oregon painter David Kreitzer was selected for this year’s Sunriver Music Festival image. Seventeen local artists submitted work and David’s work was chosen by a jury of professionals from Artists’ Gallery Sunriver.

David Kreitzer has been a professional painter for over fifty years specializing in serene landscapes and dazzling portraits in watercolor and oils. Water is the unifying element in David’s art, which he describes as “the ultimate painting problem” because of the need to convey the surface quality of water itself, the reflections on that surface, and the depth below the transparent surface.

Born in Nebraska and holding a Master in Illustration degree from San Jose State University, David has enjoyed widespread success, exhibiting his art in numerous one-man shows in museums, universities and galleries across the country, including New York’s Suma, Scottsdale’s Leslie Levy Fine Art, Seattle’s Runnings Gallery, and Antrum and Stary-Sheets Galleries in Southern California. His paintings hang in many collections, including those of The Revlon Corporation, Kimberly-Clark, San Jose State University, and the Santa Barbara Museum and is part of the private collections of Ray Bradbury, Mary Tyler Moore, Michael Douglass, and Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ahmanson.

“For four decades, we have showcased some of the most accomplished artists in the region and the experience continues to be a win-win for everyone,” explains Festival’s Operations Director Meagan Iverson. “We are overjoyed to welcome David to the Festival family and are honored for this opportunity to share his art.” The artwork will be featured on the front cover of the Summer Festival program book, the annual ticket brochure, notecards, posters, and more.
